Activity Report of Communication Activities spanning from 2025 to 2026.

Listening activity was conducted with the students on 19th of June 2025 for the students of BCA 2nd Year.

Listening skills are crucial for effective communication and building strong relationships, both personally and professionally. Here are some key components of good listening skills:

1. Active Listening: This means fully concentrating, understanding, responding, and remembering what the other person is saying. It involves making eye contact, nodding, and showing interest in the conversation.
2. Avoiding Interruptions: Let the speaker finish their thoughts before responding. Interrupting can make the speaker feel unheard or frustrated.
3. Empathy: Put yourself in the other person's shoes. Try to understand their emotions and perspective rather than just focusing on what they're saying.
4. Clarification: If something is unclear, ask questions to ensure you understand correctly. Phrases like, "Can you explain that further?" or "What did you mean by that?" can help clarify misunderstandings.
5. Non-verbal Cues: Pay attention to body language, tone of voice, and facial expressions. These can often convey more information than words alone.

Public speaking skills Practice Session was conducted on 22nd of July 2025 with the students of BCA 2nd semester.

Public speaking is the act of delivering a speech or presentation in front of an audience. It's a skill that can be useful in many contexts, such as business, education, politics, and entertainment. Good public speaking involves more than just presenting information—it's about engaging and inspiring your audience.

Here are some key aspects of public speaking:

1. Preparation: Know your material well. Organize your thoughts into a clear structure (e.g., introduction, body, and conclusion). Tailor your content to your audience's needs or interests.
2. Confidence: Be confident in your delivery. This doesn't mean being perfect, but rather speaking with authority and conviction. Practice can help with this.
3. Body Language: Your body language conveys a lot of information. Make eye contact, use hand gestures, and stand or sit in a posture that exudes confidence and engagement.
4. Voice Modulation: The way you speak matters—vary your tone, pitch, and pace to keep the audience engaged. A monotone delivery can be disengaging.
5. Engagement: Involve your audience. Ask questions, use anecdotes or humor, and connect with your listeners to maintain interest.

Presentation skills Practice Session was conducted for MBA Students on 22nd of August 2025, Presentation Skills are essential for effectively communicating ideas, information, and concepts to an audience. Whether you are delivering a business proposal, a lecture, or sharing an idea with a group, strong presentation skills can significantly impact how well your message is received. Here are some key components of presentation skills:

1. Clarity and Structure

- Organize your content: Structure your presentation with a clear beginning, middle, and end. Start with an introduction to outline what you'll cover, followed by the body where you explain your main points, and end with a conclusion or call to action.
- Be clear and concise: Avoid unnecessary jargon and focus on delivering your message clearly. A concise presentation is more likely to engage your audience.

2. Confidence

- Body language: Use positive body language such as maintaining good posture, eye contact, and purposeful movements. Avoid crossing your arms or fidgeting, as this can distract from your message.
- Voice control: Speak confidently and with appropriate volume. Use varied tone and pace to keep your audience engaged. Avoid speaking too fast, as this can make it difficult for people to follow your ideas.
- Practice: Familiarize yourself with the content and rehearse multiple times. This will reduce nervousness and help you deliver your message smoothly.

3. Engagement

- Know your audience: Tailor your content to the needs, interests, and knowledge level of your audience. This will help keep them engaged and make the presentation more relevant.
- Ask questions and involve the audience: Pose thought-provoking questions or encourage audience participation to keep them actively engaged.
- Visual aids: Use slides, charts, videos, or other visual elements to enhance your message. However, avoid overcrowding slides with text. Keep them simple and relevant.

4. Handling Nerves

- Breathing techniques: Deep breathing exercises can help calm your nerves and ensure you're speaking clearly.
- Positive visualization: Visualize yourself delivering a successful presentation to boost your confidence.
- Focus on the message, not yourself: Shift your attention from worrying about how you are performing to focusing on delivering value to your audience.
